[Faint handwritten text in Odia script, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page]

Handwritten text in a non-Latin script, likely a form or document, written in a cursive style. The text is oriented vertically on the page. It appears to be a form with various fields and sections, possibly related to a medical or administrative record. The script is dense and fills most of the page.
