and the condition of society in India. He also noted that the condition of society in India was deteriorating rapidly due to the increasing influence of materialism and the decline of spiritual values. He urged the people to return to their spiritual roots and live a life of simplicity, truth, and non-violence.
He also emphasized the importance of education and the need for the development of a new spiritual leadership that could lead the country towards a better future.
