The first part of the document discusses the general principles of the project. It outlines the objectives and the scope of the work. The second part describes the methodology used for data collection and analysis. The third part presents the results of the study, and the fourth part discusses the conclusions and implications of the findings.

APPENDIX A

This appendix provides detailed information regarding the data sources and the statistical methods employed in the study. It includes a list of the variables measured and the specific tests used to analyze the data.

Variable	Measurement	Unit
Temperature	°C	°C
Humidity	%	%
Pressure	hPa	hPa
Wind Speed	m/s	m/s
Wind Direction	°	°

The data was collected over a period of six months. The measurements were taken at regular intervals and stored in a database. The statistical analysis was performed using the following methods:

1. Descriptive statistics: Mean, standard deviation, and range for each variable.

2. Correlation analysis: Pearson correlation coefficient to determine the relationship between variables.

3. Regression analysis: Linear regression to model the relationship between variables.
